

Complaints Policy

The trust and its colleges are committed to high quality provision and support and we operate in a climate of fairness, equality and mutual respect. We believe that we can learn from the experience and views of students, parents and other stakeholders and want to listen to and address any concerns that may arise.

At any stage of the complaints procedure, based on the details of the complaint, a decision may be made to deal with the complaint under a different and more relevant policy or procedure if appropriate.

Complaints should be logged promptly or at least within 2 calendar months of the incident. If a complaint is received after this time, unless there are exceptional circumstances, no further action will be taken.

Stage One – Informal Resolution

We will treat promptly, fairly and seriously any concerns from students, parents or other individual or organisation involved with the trust or its colleges and endeavour to reach a speedy and satisfactory solution.

Initially, it is often good to talk to the member of staff most directly involved and this may be done as an informal query, rather than a complaint necessarily under this policy. However, you may also direct your concerns or complaint to the relevant Head of School/Curriculum Leader or the appropriate Senior Progress Tutor under stage one of this procedure. (For HE students this is the HE tutor). If a complaint is raised directly with the Principal, it is likely the Principal will forward the complaint to the most appropriate member of staff in the college for it to be addressed. If you're not sure who to contact, please contact the main college reception who will be able to help.

If you are a student at New College Doncaster, you can speak to one or more of the following:

- subject teacher
- Curriculum Leader
- Progress Tutor
- Senior Progress Tutor

If you are a student at New College Pontefract, you can speak to one or more of the following:

- subject teacher
- Head of School
- Progress Tutor
- Senior Progress Tutor

It is important not to let problems get too big or out of hand. Discussing or reporting a concern quickly will help you and us to find a quick and effective resolution. If, after attempting to resolve the issue within stage one, a complainant remains dissatisfied with the outcome, they will be provided with information about the trust's formal complaints procedure and will enter stage two.

It is the responsibility of all staff to inform the Complaints Officer (who is the Director of HR) of all complaints received. If at any time the Complaints Officer feels that the complaint requires a formal investigation the complaint will be moved to stage two of this policy.

Stage Two – Formal Resolution

Stage two is for complaints that have already been viewed within stage one of the complaints policy or for complaints which have been moved to stage two by the Complaints Officer.

Formal complaints are dealt with by a single point of contact for both New College Pontefract and New College Doncaster, this point of contact is Lauren Walker (Complaints Officer) who can be contacted at lauren.walker@nclt.ac.uk.

If a complainant is dissatisfied with the outcome of stage one, the complainant should put their complaint in writing to the Complaints Officer outlining the grounds for formal action. The form attached at Appendix One can be used but is not essential. The written complaint should:

- Outline in reasonable detail the nature of the complaint and any unresolved issues.
- Clarify what actions they believe should be taken to resolve the complaint.

Receipt of the complaint will be acknowledged in writing within 5 college days. The Complaints Officer will review the complaint and determine the most appropriate member of staff to handle the complaint or conduct further investigations, where required. Where complaints are serious, the Principal and/or the trust CEO will be notified.

The investigating officer will carry out whatever further investigation is deemed necessary to understand the facts of the case and to achieve a successful outcome regarding the complaint. This may include, but is not confined to, interviewing relevant witnesses and taking statements of those involved, reviewing electronic or printed materials/policies etc.

The investigating officer will keep written records of all meetings and telephone conversations undertaken as part of the investigation together with any other relevant documentation and evidence gathered.

A written response will be made to the complainant within 20 college days of the written complaint being received, with a copy being submitted to the Complaints Officer. Outcomes to a complaint may include:

- A finding that the complaint requires no further action.
- A finding that there is insufficient evidence to reach a conclusion such that the complaint cannot be upheld.
- An acknowledgement that the situation could have been handled differently or better (this is not the same as an admission of negligence).
- An apology.
- An explanation of the steps that have been taken to ensure it will not happen again.

- An undertaking to review college or trust procedures in light of the complaint.

The complainant will be advised that if they are dissatisfied with the outcome they may appeal the outcome of the complaint (see Stage Three).

Stage Three – Appeal

If previous mechanisms fail to produce an acceptable solution you may then appeal in writing within 10 college days of receipt of the letter informing the complainant of the outcome of stage two. This should be addressed for the attention of the Complaints Officer (Lauren Walker) in the first instance.

A panel will be appointed to hear the appeal and will comprise of three individuals not previously directly involved with the complaint. One panel member will be independent of the management and running of the college.

A complainant will be entitled to attend the appeal panel hearing and is able to be accompanied by an appropriate companion if they wish. The panel should be notified of the chosen companion in good time in advance of the hearing.

The panel may agree with the outcome of the initial complaint or may find that further investigation is required and/or that recommendations are put in place. The outcome of the appeal will be communicated in writing to the complainant within 5 college days.

A record of all complaints and their outcome will be kept confidentially by the Director of HR.

If you are not satisfied with the college's response or the Chair of the Board of Director's response to a complaint, you may complain to the Education Funding Agency (EFA) or in some special circumstances to the Secretary of State for Education for students studying level 3 courses. The EFA would normally expect such complaints to be made within 3 months of the conclusion of the college's own complaints procedure.

For students studying Higher Education Courses, instead of the EFA you may access the Office of the Independent Adjudicator (OIA), an ombudsman which acts as a complaints handler of last resort. Further information can be found at www.oiahe.org.uk

You should normally exhaust college processes first before accessing the EFA, Secretary of State for Education or the OIA.

Unreasonable Complainants

The New Collaborative Learning Trust (NCLT) is committed to dealing with all complaints fairly and to providing a high quality service to those who complain. However, we do not expect our staff to tolerate unacceptable behaviour and will take action to protect staff from such behaviour, including that which is abusive, offensive or threatening.

NCTL defines unreasonable complainants as ‘those who, because of the frequency or nature of their contacts with a college would cause significant disruption to the safe and effective operation of the college, harass or threaten any members of the NCLT, or engage in vexatious complaints by seeking to re-open matters that have already been subject to a concluded complaints procedure.’

Where a complainant acts in an unreasonable manner, the Complaints Officer may inform the complainant that the complaints procedure has been drawn to an end by reason of the conduct of the complainant.

A complaint may be regarded as unreasonable when the person making the complaint:

- Refuses to articulate their complaint and provide the relevant information using the form at Appendix 1, despite assistance being offered.
- Refuses to co-operate with the complaints investigation whilst still wishing their complaint to be resolved.
- Refuses to accept that certain issues are not within the scope of this policy.
- Insists on the complaint being dealt with in a way that is incompatible with the complaints policy or with good practice.
- Changes the basis of the complaint as the investigation proceeds.
- Introduces trivial or irrelevant information which the complainant expects to be taken in to account, or raises large numbers of detailed but unimportant questions, and insists they are fully answered, often immediately and to their own timescales.
- Makes unjustified complaints about staff who are trying to deal with the complaint.
- Repeatedly makes the same complaint (despite previous investigations or responses concluding that the complaint has no grounds or has already been addressed).
- Seeks an unrealistic outcome.
- Refuses to accept the findings of an investigation, where the complaints policy has been exhausted.
- Makes excessive demands on the college whilst the complaint is being dealt with, in terms of the amount of contact with staff regarding the complaint.
- Behaves inappropriately, such as maliciously, aggressively, threatening or intimidating, uses abusive language, falsifies information or knows the complaint to be false.

Where a complainant’s behaviour is very serious, the concerns will be put in writing and the policy may be informed and the complainant may be banned from college premises. The safety of staff and students is of paramount important to us and the public has no automatic right of entry.

Complainants should limit the number of communications with the college whilst a complaint is being processed, so as not to delay an outcome being reached.
